Corner in Showgarden at Cottage Gardens

THE COTTAGE GARDENS

LANSING ~ MICHIGAN

New and Rare Plants of Special Interest

You will find these plants listed under their specific headings.

New Flowering Crab Apples and Japanese Rose-Flowering Cherries. We like to draw your attention to our collection of these plants. Grown in the heart of Michigan they are perfectly hardy. Prices have been greatly reduced even of the finest varieties. Enliven your garden with some of these gorgeous plants.

Chamaecyparis "Triumphe de Boskoop." A beautiful Evergreen seldom seen. The foliage is a striking deep metallic blue and of fan-shape. It has proven perfectly hardy at Lansing.

Juniperus Communis Depressa Plumosa (Andorra Juniper). A splendid plant to furnish horizontal effect at base of upright evergreens. Also fine for Rock Garden work.

Jun. Squamata Meyeri. By far the finest Evergreen of recent introduction. Beautiful blue and of a texture that harmonizes especially well with rockwork.

Jun. Virginiana Burki. A very little known blue Juniper that makes a fine columnar tree. Well-filled and filling a long-felt need.

Jun. Virg. Smithi. Light grass-green foliage. Except in semi-shady locations Hemlock is not so satisfactory. This new Juniper takes the place of Hemlock very nicely.

Laburnum Alpinum. Light yellow blossoms like Wistaria, 10-12 ins. long. Grows to a small tree and is much hardier than the ordinary Golden Rain tree.

Azalea Kaempferi Hybrids and Rhododendron Hybrids. There is no reason why middle-western gardens could not have more of these treasures to delight the eye in spring. Making and keeping the soil acid is not so much trouble compared with the pleasure you derive from them.

Caragana, Decorticans, Frutex and Lorbergi. These rare varieties of Caragana (Siberian Pea Shrubs) form very fine hedge material and Lorbergi possesses fine cut attractive foliage.

Forsythia Interm. Spectabilis. An improvement over the ordinary F. Intermedia in that the individual flowers are larger and more numerous.

Philadelphus Amalthee, Atlas, Montblanc, Virginal and others. The new Philadelphus should be used more freely. They are wonderful for cutting and the new varieties make fine background material.

Prunus Tomentosum (Nanking Cherry). This plant, forming a small tree, is about the earliest shrub to burst into an array of soft pinkish white; blooming almost as soon as there are a few warm days.

Symphoricarpus Chenaulti. A new Indian Currant that has more beautiful foliage and larger berries than the old variety. The foliage persists way into winter.

Viburnum Carlesi. Every garden should have a group of this beautiful shrub. Its blossoms possess a delightful fragrance, opening an attractive pink and developing into Bouvardia-like umbels of pure white.

Viburnum Rhytidophyllum (Leatherleaf Viburnum). A robust evergreen shrub that is very beautiful planted in semi-shade.

Astilbes. We like to draw your attention to our list of Astilbes. (Under Perennials).

NEW EARLY CHRYSANTHEMUMS. Under Perennials you will find a collection of Chrysanthemums that will delight those who already are acquainted with some of these fine new things.

Papaver Olympia. A surprise in Oriental Poppies, full double.

You will find all these interesting things in the following lists. Should you be looking for a certain kind of plant material to suit a particular location, we shall be glad to advise you. Any time you think we can be of service, please write.

Japanese Rose-Flowering Cherries

These beautiful trees have proven perfectly hardy in Michigan. They have stood all winter temperatures here without protection and we have never noticed any winter injury.

Thousands and thousands of people travel to Washington, D. C., every year to admire the wonderful display of Cherry Blossoms along the Potomac Basin where are planted several hundred Japanese Flowering Cherry Trees presented to the United States Government by the Japanese Government.

We offer here the large double-flowering varieties. They bloom early in May and their miraculous beauty, coming so soon after winter has passed, makes a picture of delicate beauty.

Chinese Flowering Crab Apples (Malus)

The real beauty and usefulness of the Flowering Crab Apple does not seem to be widely known. A visit in the spring to the Arnold Arboretum at Boston, Mass., where hundreds of Flowering Crabs may be seen in great masses of color, cannot help but leave an impression that is never forgotten.

Several years ago we began to recognize the value of these Flowering Trees for Middle Western Gardens and since have built up a collection that, we believe, will prove of great interest to all.

Flowering Crab Apples form very fine background material, or as specimen trees on the lawn or in between lower growing shrubs. Over large areas they may be placed in groups. They add a profusion of color to the spring picture while the fruit, which comes in yellow, bright red, and deep red, does not only add to the beauty of the trees in the fall, but attracts birds which greatly relish it. Almost all Flowering Crab Apples are excellent for cutflowers as they last well after cut.

Miscellaneous Lilacs

	Size	Each
Syringa Persica, Persian Lilac, gracefully formed flower of reddish lavender. Foliage not as coarse as that of common Lilac	2-3 ft.	.50
Josikae (Hungarian Lilac). Blooms after ordinary lilacs are gone, pale purple blooms, large and beautiful	3 ft.	.75
Microphylla. Graceful slender stems; pale pinkish-red buds opening to pale pink, loose panicles, small individual florets. Effective in the landscape as it blooms later than French Lilacs. Often blooms again in the fall	18-24 in.	.95
Rothomagensis (Rouen Lilac). Grows 10-12 ft. Deep lavender flower	3 ft.	.75
Sweginzowii, tall slender stems of a dark bronze color. At the end of May a profusion of many branched panicles of delicate pale pink, sweet scented flowers. Rather large long-tubed flowers with reflexed lobes, single. A variety of most elegant character and refinement, that is the more valuable because it blooms even later than Microphylla	3 ft.	.75
Villosa, pinkish lilac flowers, broad-leaved, dwarf growth, blooms very late	3 ft.	.70

Broad-Leaved Evergreens

All Balled and Burlapped

These plants are sensitive to lime in the soil and require acidity. In planting use plenty of leafmold or if not available work in plenty of horticultural Peat and give the soil an application of Aluminum Sulphate, ½-1 pound, or Sulphate of Ammonia, 1 to 3 pounds, sprinkled evenly over a square yard of surface and spaded in. Further details about acid-requiring plants will be gladly furnished. If you like to enjoy the finest in Azalea, Rhododendrons, etc., you must be willing to prepare the ground properly and keep the soil in acid condition.

Chrysanthemums

The New Early Hardy Chrysanthemum has opened a new chapter in the fall garden. It is now possible, after the annuals have gone and few flowers are left on Perennials, to have a garden as gloriously beautiful as though it were June. The New Hardy Chrysanthemums bloom early enough to escape the hardest colds and late enough to brighten the garden where it otherwise would be bare. All the following varieties have been thoroughly tested in our climate and we strongly recommend them.

ALICE HOWEL, single orange bronze, October 5.

Cottage Gardens Fine Lawn Seed

Our Lawn Seed business has just really volunteered in our establishment. Years ago we made up a lawn seed mixture, after many tests, that in our opinion would be ideal for good durable lawns. Our customers liked it and ever since our lawn seed business has been growing steadily. Our seed is always fresh, and free from chaff and other impurities.

- OUR REGULAR LAWN SEEDper lb. 40c, 10 lbs. $3.50
- SHADY LAWN MIXTUREper lb. 45c, 10 lbs. $4.00
